Redcoats Invade Northland This Weekend

Both Touchdowns Come In First Half

Ironmen Spoil Grayling Homecoming With A 12 To 0 Grid Victory

The Mancelona Ironmen spoiled the homecoming celebration with a 12 to 0 victory here last Friday afternoon. The Ironmen scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters with the second half not producing any scoring.

During the first half, the Ironmen moved ahead at will for their much smaller opponents. Grayling again was outweighted, this time by about 20 pounds per man. Both scores came on off-packet plays to the weak side, an Ironman favorite play. The first score came from about 15 yards out while the second was scored from just inches short of the Grayling goal.

Grayling's best offensive effort carried them to Mancelona's 15 yard line as the gun went off to end the game.

Jim Parkinson blocked the first attempt for point after touchdown and teamed with Tom Gibbons to block the second try also. Jim and Gary Parkinson and Gibbons stood out on defense for Grayling.

It was Grayling's first time to play defense. Again the punting of Don Denton's was outstanding. His average for the year is over 45 yards per kick with the season's longest a 57 yard kick against Charlevoix.

For the season, Grayling scored 50 points while 62 were scored against them as they ran up a record of 2 win, 4 loss and a tie record in seven games. A Northern Class "C" Conference meeting is being held tonight to name the All Conference teams and to set up next year's schedules.

The Vikings are also to vote on a honorary team captain for this past season. A football banquet has been set for next Monday night at the school.

Coach Larry Baumann will have lettermen returning for next season while Don Denton, Tom Gibbons, Larry Balch and Ken Lazarewicz played their last games for the Vikings on Friday.

State Water Pollution Problem Shrinking

SPORTSMEN and resort owners breathe easier as the Michigan Water Resources Commission discloses its latest stream and lake pollution survey.

Major F. Adams, executive secretary, complimented industries on new waste disposal systems and said "marked improvement" had been made.

"We're disappointed in the industries involved because they deserved better," he said.

It was just a year ago that Michigan had its infamous fish-killing episode in Allegan Lake. Hydrogen sulfide in the Kalamazoo River at the same time gave all fishes which swam in the water a deadly shock.

The survey completed this fall shows that pollution has been greatly reduced along the river and in adjoining lakes. The fish are returning in great numbers.

Of the 15 sampling stations, one was above the city of Kalamazoo at Comstock bridge; three were inside the city: two below Kalamazoo and above Plainwell, two inside Plainwell; one at the Otsego dam; three below Otsego and above Allegan; and the first three were at M-49 and M-40 bridges and the municipal dam below Allegan.

Adams gave credit for part of the improvement to the Otsego Falls Paper Mills which disposed of its solid wastes and pulp mill liquors on the roads rather than in the river.

Others getting praises were Allegan Paper Mills, Moscah Division, St. Regis Paper Co., Rex Paper Co., National Gypsum Co., Mill No. 2 of Kalamazoo Paper, and Divisions 4 and 7 of Sutherland Paper, the KVP Plant at Parchment, Michigan Paper Co. at Plainwell and Mac Sim Bar Co. at Otsego.

The survey and the complaints to the industries constitute a typical cycle — with the commission directing an operation aimed at keeping the streams and lakes for resorters and sportsmen.

Industries have been hailed before the commission, some of them taken into court, for polluting the streams with wastes. The result has been a new program of industrial waste development.

After it is all over, the commission will keep a continuing check on the streams and lakes — a part of government not often understood.

Michigan is starting a program of education in the school system based on the principal that the younger generation must know about alcohol for its own and society's sake.

The State Board of Alcoholism isn't taking sides in the matter. Its director, Ralph W. Daniel, explains it this way:

"People have a perfect right to believe that drinking is bad. Others think differently. We just want to give young people the facts to go with what they learn at home."

He stressed that the home is where youngsters must get their first information about alcohol, and that the schools can help by teaching the economic, social and physical aspects.

Conferring both with state temperance leaders and educators, the Board of Alcoholism in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, will sponsor a series of courses in elementary and high schools next year based on these points:

1. Alcohol education has the same aim as all other education: to develop wholesome personalities by promoting habits and attitudes that will be conducive to happy and healthful living.
2. The boys and girls of Michigan are entitled to know about the economic, sociological and physiological effects of the use of alcoholic beverages, Daniel said.
3. Teacher training institutions should consider alcohol education in the preparation and training of teachers.
4. The major responsibility for alcohol education lies with the classroom teachers. They could be aided by outside organizations, and state consultants.
5. The community, the school and the students should be included in making alcohol education part of the curriculum.
6. Methods used in teaching about alcohol should be appropriate to the philosophy of the teacher and to the grade level of

A Tax Philosophy

Every Congress enacts tax laws. But the last Congress did something which is unprecedented in modern times. It passed a law overhauling the entire federal tax structure—the first such overhaul in 75 years.

Writing in the Saturday Evening Post of October 2, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey describes the purposes of the new law as being these: "To remove many hardships on individuals; to reduce restraints on the kind of enterprise which creates new business and new jobs; to close loopholes; and—so far as possible—to make the tax laws more simple, clear and certain."

Then Mr. Humphrey observes that the benefits of the law are of two kinds—direct and indirect. We will enjoy the direct ones next April when income tax returns are due again. Just about everyone will be helped, from working mothers, who will be allowed deductions for baby-sitter charges, to farmers who want to buy new equipment. In this connection, the Secretary adds that the government is eager to acquit taxpayers with their rights under the new law, and urges anyone who has questions go to the nearest Internal Revenue office for help with his return.

The indirect benefits, for the most part, will not be felt so quickly. But in Mr. Humphrey's view, they are by far the most important. He writes: "By removing restraints this new law will release new energies throughout our economic system, working quietly but steadily to create new enterprises, more and better jobs, new productive efficiencies, larger payrolls and a healthily rising standard of living for all the 160,000,000 people of America."

That sentence is worth a second reading. It clearly explains the philosophy of the fiscal experts who wrote the 929-page law, of the Congressional majority which voted for it, and of the President who signed it. This philosophy is rooted in the idea that the way to achieve the greatest good for the greatest number is to encourage initiative and enterprise—both among individuals, and among businesses and industries of all sizes and kinds.

A practical example of this kind of thinking is found in the provision of the law which partially eases double taxation of dividend income. Mr. Humphrey points out that in manufacturing industry it costs an average of nearly $15,000 to buy the plant and equipment needed to provide just one job. Thus, in his words, "the double taxation of dividend income has made it increasingly difficult to attract risk capital to create these jobs." So industrial expansion in late years has been mainly paid for through borrowing instead of sales of stock. That, in his view, is potentially dangerous, for a business with a heavy load of debt "moves timidly instead of boldly." Hence, the dividend-income provision was written into the bill.

Finally, the Secretary ends with these bright words: "Our tax revision of 1954 represents a mighty effort to bring our tax laws up to the needs of a modern America, a giant stride forward toward economic health, growth and sanity."

46 YEARS AGO
November 12, 1908

Today is the 31st anniversary of the birth of the Avalanche and we believe we have a right to be proud of the growth and development of the paper. It has grown from a five column quarto to a seven column folio, its circulation increased over sixfold and the off-

CREAM cheese balls rolled in chopped salted almonds do wonders for fruit salads. Scoop the balls from the cheese with a small spoon, then toss lightly in the salted nuts.

Make a special sauce for hamburger if you want a real treat: chop one large peeled firm tomato, then mix with a small can of chopped ripe olives, finely chopped onion, a small can of green chili peppers, chopped and a tablespoon each of oil and vinegar. Season to taste and allow to stand for several hours before serving.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Cottage Cheese Salad Dressing (Makes 1 1/2 cups)
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk (1/2 of 15-ounce can)
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup cottage cheese
Blend thoroughly: sweetened condensed milk, vinegar, salt, mustard and paprika. Force cottage cheese through sieve and add to mixture, beating until smooth. If thicker consistency is desired, place in refrigerator to chill before serving. Excellent for fruit salads.

When unexpected company comes and dessert offers a problem, simply whip out a can of cling peaches and serve with whipped cream sprinkled with crumbled gingersnaps.

Another quick and fancy dessert combines a package of instant vanilla pudding with one 12-ounce can of apricot whole fruit nectar. Fold in 1/2 cup of whipped cream and spoon into sherbet glasses. Top with quick-frozen or canned raspberries.

If you use canned ham, here's a good glaze: combine 1/2 cup each of honey and brown sugar and spread evenly over ham. Bake in a moderate oven allowing 15 minutes for each pound of ham.

Ice equipment multiplied over six times in value. Our job department is equal to any similar office in the state, and our advertising patronage is quite satisfactory, proving the endorsement of our business citizens. With our thanks for favors past we promise to continue, as we deem best, to work for the advancement of the city and county, and to publish a paper that will be welcome to every home.

James W. Sorenson returned Monday from a business trip to Chicago to purchase an immense stock of Christmas presents.

At the election last week, Oscoda, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Crawford, Lapeer, Gratiot and Eaton counties each elected one lone Democrat and all but one was for sheriff.

Lewis & Co. have adorned their drug store with a National Cigar case which is the first ever brought to this village.

John Benson and Ambrose McLain started for the woods in quest of venison, yesterday morning. They will camp in Aebi's cottage on Portage Lake.

Frederic Boy Scout News
Tuesday night the Boy Scouts met at the Sportsman's Hall for their meeting. First we called the meeting to order by saying the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Then we talked about the compass. A little later we went over DeWard and did some work with the compass. Each patrol had the problem to figure out. The Indian patrol got through first. When we had a contest to see which one of the troop patrols could be best for a month. The Indian Head Patrol won so the Whippoorwill Patrol had to treat them with a party. The next month we are going to have another contest. That's all. We elected Benny Pratt for our new Scribe.

First Time in regular grade gasoline

TCP—the greatest gasoline development in 31 years—stops the greatest cause of power waste

New Shell Gasoline—regular grade—gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

Now motorists whose engines were designed to operate on regular grade fuels are offered a remarkable new gasoline.

This new gasoline contains TCP*, the Shell-developed additive which overcomes the greatest cause of power loss in the majority of cars on the road today.

A year ago TCP additive was introduced in Shell Premium Gasoline exclusively. Its acceptance has proved that TCP is indeed the greatest gasoline development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead.

New Shell Gasoline (regular grade)—now with TCP—benefits engine performance in two ways. First, by "fireproofing" combustion chamber-deposits, it effectively controls pre-ignition.

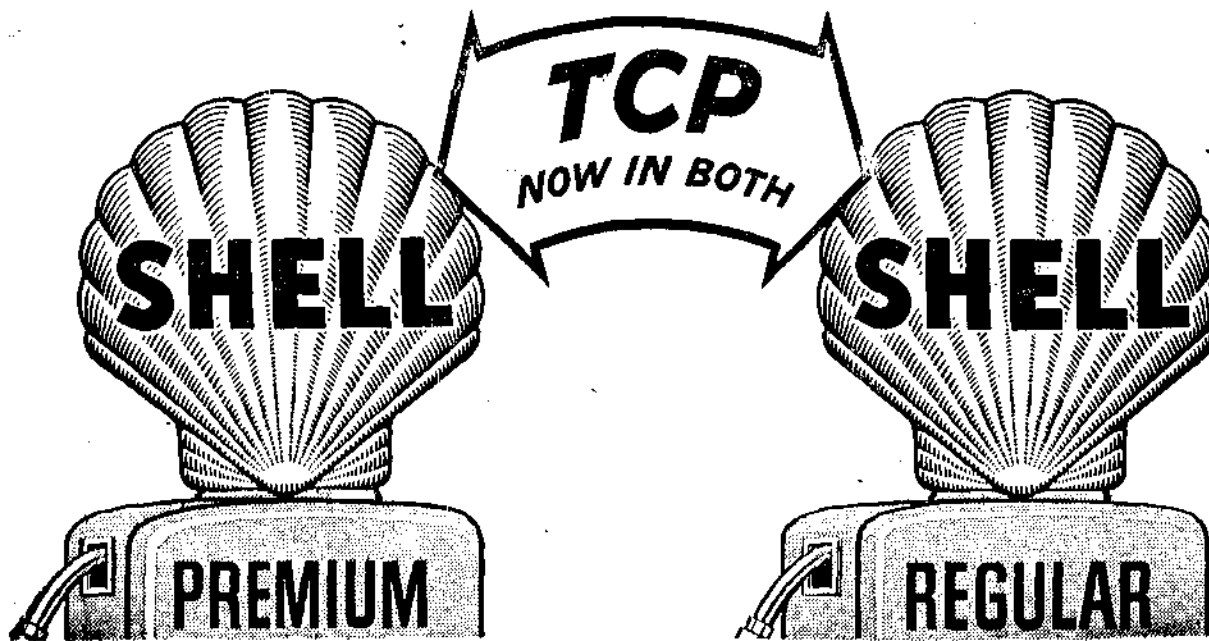

Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs to non-conductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each plug fires as it should, preventing fuel waste.

Gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

By correcting these engine troubles, Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP gives an increase in acceleration, in smoothness of engine operation and in mileage.

Because engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The Department of Commerce makes interesting discovery.

This government agency has surveyed some 400 of nation's biggest business enterprises on what inducement would encourage them to risk capital in foreign ventures.

The replies are very interesting. Usually the firm welfare state is used to indicate a desire for government pledged security for the lower income groups. However, replies indicated that the greatest tub thumpers for a welfare state are the nation's biggest corporations.

It is also interesting Dept. of Commerce confined survey to 400 firms out of more than 4 million establishments in the nation.

It is also interesting to reflect that undoubtedly some of these firms included the leading tub thumpers for abolition of U. S. protective tariffs with the cry that no matter how cheap foreign labor is, American "know how" can overcome that, and besides, if unlimited cheap imports hurt some domestic firms that's just the risk of doing business.

But Big Business made it clear to Commerce Dept., it wants to take no risk.

For example, there seemed to be a lack of belief that their sales methods could be successful in selling to pent up demands of the billions outside U. S. Therefore, before taking any "risk" they want tariffs reduced so they can sell their foreign labor produced goods in U. S.

They also want special low income taxes on any money they make on foreign "risk" ventures.

They also want government to guarantee they will suffer no losses on foreign "risk" ventures.

They also want the government to relieve them on anti trust laws, presumably so they can join foreign monopolies in their "risk" ventures.

In fact, they expressed themselves as perfectly willing and eager to enter into "risk" ventures in foreign lands.

But the risk must be shouldered by the U. S. taxpayer, and the profits of such "risk" ventures must accrue to them.

Yet many of these same corporations employ high pressure men to persuade independent retailers and wholesalers to risk capital in heavy inventories—with no guarantees.

Thus, once again, evidence appears there are two definitions of free enterprise. One small but affluent group, feels free enterprise is where government gives them a free hand backed up with free insurance.

But independent businessmen, generally, consider free enterprise as a system whereby a man is free to go broke, as well as make a fortune.

Yet thousands are willing to risk their savings, their homes, furniture, and futures in having a go at free enterprise as they understand it. And all they ask from government is that they be given at least an even break to succeed. Yet government policies on cheap imports, lax anti trust law enforcement, inequitable tax programs, make that risk more riskier every year. But interestingly enough, Commerce Department has yet to make a thorough investigation of the needs of independent business.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Strong:

I am sending check for renewal of my subscription. The "Avalanche" seems like an old friend from Grayling dropping in to tell me the news of my old home town. There have been many changes and there are many strange names, but I usually find something of interest each week.

This week was the 40th anniversary of the Michigan Memorial Church. I loved that church and my work for many years in it as Supt. of the Primary Dept. in S. S. work in the Ladies Aid, and on the church board. The article brought back many memories, for instance, the old church with its large round stove in the back, the oil lamps, the large one with its 12 lamps hanging from the ceiling and others along each side and for the altar and choir. The cozy back room where each Wednesday evening prayer meeting was held and on Sunday evening Epworth League.

So I think I would miss the "Avalanche" if it stopped coming and hope to continue it as long as I can.

Sincerely,
Etta Phelps
